

CALL FOR PAPERS/ SPEAKER PROPOSALS

1st Annual Joint Seminar on Educational Research

In 2018 University of Warsaw School of Education, University of Warsaw Center for Innovation and Research in Education (CIBE), and Indiana University School of Education will initiate the Annual Joint Seminar on Educational Research.

The seminar will serve as a forum for dissemination of current research outcomes and discussion of future collaborative research initiatives. The first event will be hosted by the University of Warsaw on May 9th and 10th, 2018. It will include a keynote lecture (TBD), and 16 presentations (eight from each university). All speakers will be given 20 minutes to present.

This is a formal request to all of University of Warsaw scholars performing educational research - theoretical, methodological, or empirical - from the perspective of different academic disciplines (e.g. educators, psychologists, economists, social scientists), who would like to present their findings during the 1st AJSER.

The proposed thematic areas of the seminar include:

- Methods and Approaches for Assessing Educational Outcomes,
- Teacher Preparation and Development,
- Quality and High Impact Teaching Methods,
- Institutional Organization at the School, District, and Country Level,
- Advances in STEM Education, and
- Education for Democratic Citizenship.

The seminar will be held in English.

To apply, please submit a research paper or structured abstract (up to 300 words) to Justyna Kościńska (j.koscinska@is.uw.edu.pl) by January 31, 2018. The proposal should include the name(s) and faculty affiliation(s) of the author(s).

A review committee will be appointed to select papers to be presented at the conference. The speakers will be notified by February 28, 2018.

For more information about the seminar please e-mail Mikołaj Herbst (mherbst@uw.edu.pl).
